FORTY-SEVEN OF DEAD, PASSENGERS

(BULLETIN)

BRUCE CANYON, Utah, Oct. 25.—(INS)—The grim task of removing the bodies from the charred wreckage of the super-luxury airliner which crashed like a flaming meteor and carried 52 persons to their deaths near Bryce Canyon began today.

Cowboys and ranchers combed the lower hillsides in the rugged Bryce Canyon area for bodies which might have fallen from the giant United Airlines "Mainliner".

BRUCE CANYON, Utah, Oct. 25.—A grim task of probing into burned wreckage of a super-luxury airliner that crashed like a flaming meteor near Bryce Canyon, carrying 52 persons to their deaths, was underway today.

The coast-to-coast United Air Lines "Mainliner" roared into a cliff headon yesterday within 30 seconds of safety while approaching an emergency airport after a mysterious fire was discovered in its baggage compartment.

Among the dead were 47 passengers, including two infants, and a crew of five.

Losses Safety By Five Feet
A safe landing could have been made if the airliner had been five feet higher.

Just beyond the lip of the Arroyo into which the plane crashed was a brush-covered plateau on which a safe landing might have been made.

Civil Aeronautics Board authorities were at the scene to investigate the disaster, one of the worst in the history of American aviation.

James Peyton, chief of the CAB's Los Angeles region, headed the investigating party which included representatives from the Civil Aeronautics Authority, United Air

It is reported that a number of the crocus bulbs in the flower garden of Dr. G. E. Seal, East Washington street, have sent their shoots from the ground about a foot or three inches. Doubtless the continued springlike weather is responsible for this unusual occurrence.

Ohio automobiles almost outnumbered the Pennsylvania cars in the Butler avenue section of the city this morning. Long streams of Ohio cars were seen heading east to take in the Ohio State-Pitt game at Pittsburgh today.

Ample supplies of chocolate on local store counters indicate that Christmas treats should not be shy of it as has been the case in the past few years. Candy committees are already active in some churches ferreting out sweets for the Sunday school boys and girls.

Since photography is her hobby, she decided to bring along her camera. Ever since the ringnecks have been non-cooperative, by not showing up.

Hunting season may be closed—and is—but Arthur E. "Sparky" Carlson has bagged a deer. With his wife and some friends, Mr. Carlson was driving towards Ellwood City.

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 25.—(INS)—Gerhart M. Binna, 19, Erie sailor, was killed and a West View man seriously injured today when their car went out of control, rolled and struck a tank truck three miles south of Zelienople.

Coroner Charles Dengler said Binna died instantly of a skull fracture.

Robert David Wilt, the driver, of West View, was in Ellwood City hospital suffering head and internal injuries and lacerations.

The truck, driven by Lester Kelly, 25, of Rousseville, Pa., was not damaged. The car was completely demolished.

Republicans To Rally On Tuesday

In preparation for the election of November 4, the county committee of the Republican party will stage a rally in the Arena on Grove street, Tuesday night October 28 it was announced today.

Chairman Roger W. Rowland said the speaker for the rally had not been decided upon definitely as yet but would be announced Monday. The rally opens at 8 o'clock. Refreshments will be served.

Summon 21 Hollywood Personalities Next Week

By RAMOND WILCOVE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Twenty-one Hollywood personalities were under notice today that their testimony will be required next week before the House Un-American activities committee in its probe of Communism in the movie industry.

Rep. Thomas (R) N. J., committee chairman said that still other motion picture actors, writers and directors might be added to the list of witnesses and that the hearings would consume at least another week. They began Monday.

Chaplin Decision Pending

Thomas said no decision has yet been reached on whether to call Charles Chaplin, who has been subpoenaed along with numerous other actors.

With the completion of testimony yesterday by Walt Disney, who accused Communists of attempting to gain control of his studios, the committee had pretty well exhausted its list of "friendly" witnesses.

Beginning Monday, with perhaps a few exceptions, the committee will be confronted with "hostile" witnesses, many of whom have been characterized in the hearings as Communists or criticized as party sympathizers.

Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, was reportedly preparing to make a strong statement critical of the committee when he testifies Monday.

No Trespassing In State Forests To Be Enforced

State To Make Ban On Hunting In State Effective
During Dry Spell

HARRISBURG, Oct. 25.—(INS)—The Commonwealth pledged strict enforcement today of the "No Trespassing" order effective at 12:01 a. m. Monday in Pennsylvania's timberlands.

Hunters and anglers will be banned from field and stream under an order promulgated by Gov. James H. Duff to lessen the danger from fire.

Fire wardens had state lands under surveillance and were ready to bar the public when Duff's proclamation became effective, according to the department of forests and waters.

The governor presumably would rescind his order after sufficient rain had soaked forest lands.

There have been no serious fires reported although numerous small "spot" blazes have sprung up throughout the parched forests, a department spokesman said.

Alert For Dangers

State Police Commissioner C. M. Wilhelm reported instructions were sent to squadron commanders ordering them to notify patrols to be alert to fire dangers and to take steps to assist fire wardens in combating blazes.

The state game and fish commissions instructed wardens to halt fishing in state forests and hunting throughout the entire state when the deadline falls.

William L. Anderson, director of the Pennsylvania Aeronautics commission, asked all pilots, aircraft owners and airport operators to help combat the fire menace by reporting all fires, no matter how small.

"If education is to progress in America, the general public must take more interest in it, teachers must be paid better salaries, and the teachers themselves must measure up to their responsibilities." This was the gist of an address Friday night by Hon. Fred P. Hare to the closing session of the teachers' convention held in The Cathedral.

The Friday night session closed a day of activities which included departmental meetings, luncheons, and several addresses in the principal sessions in The Cathedral. Mr. Hare is a member of the General Assembly from Somerset.

Most Distilleries To Close Tonight

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(INS)—Charles Luckman, chairman of the citizens' food committee, said today that more than 95 per cent of the nation's distilling capacity will shut down at midnight for a 60-day period.

Luckman said he was "highly gratified" at the response of distillers and alcohol producers to President Truman's request. He declared:

"This action constitutes a major contribution to the committee's urgent task of providing an additional 100 million bushels of grain for the hungry people of Europe this winter."

Truman Gives No Hint On Plans To Curb High Prices

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(INS)—How President Truman proposes to curb high prices is a problem that has most of Washington's economists and experts stumped today.

Mr. Truman gave no hint in his radio speech last night as to his inflation-control plans.

Some quarters believe that a return to price controls, with the government arbitrarily fixing prices of essential commodities far below present levels, is the only

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Oct. 25.—(INS)—Detectives swarmed aboard the British liner Durban Castle today to investigate the mysterious disappearance at sea of a 21-year-old London actress named Eileen (Gay) Gibson.

She vanished overboard after a ship's dance on the night of October 17 while the vessel was en route to Southampton from South Africa.

Passengers and members of the crew of the liner were questioned. Scotland Yard men removed the door of her cabin and spent several hours in photographing the stateroom from all angles in an effort to solve the mystery.

Bellevue Council Votes Against Pay

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—(INS)—These politicians want no pay at all for their efforts.

The nine-man borough council in suburban Bellevue has unanimously voted to reject two ordinances which would provide them a salary of $25 a month.

One ordinance would have put them on the payroll November 1, and another January 1.

They said their action was due to the belief of all members that compensation was "neither desired nor necessary for the performance of services which we consider both an honor and a civic duty."

Change Marriage Plans To Speed Departure For Needed Service In India

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 25.—The crisis in India has brought a change in the marriage plans of Miss Dorothy Dewar of Springfield, Mass., a nurse and special Bible student at Westminster College, and Dr. Norval Christy of Hartford, Conn., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley H. Christy, Crafton Heights, Pittsburgh.

Miss Dewar met Dr. Christy while they were both serving at the Hartford hospital. They planned to be married next summer after Miss Dewar had taken 12 hours of Bible study to complete her missionary training and Dr. Christy had completed a year of residency at Hartford. They had already volunteered to the Missionary Board of the U. P. church for foreign service.

News of the terrible happenings in India and the urgent need for medical help, prompted the young couple to offer themselves for immediate service and they were accepted. As a result they plan to be married next month at the Christy home in Pittsburgh and they will fly to India on their honeymoon.

Miss Dewar attended classes at Westminster Friday for the last time. She plans a visit with her mother, Mrs. Hazel M. Judge, at Springfield, after which she will complete plans for her wedding and subsequent service in strife-torn India.

Dr. Christy is a graduate of Westminster. He is the brother of Dr. Wayne Christy, acting head of the Bible department of the college.

Truman Prepares His Program For Special Session

Tells Nation In Radio Ad-

Emergency Session

AID TO EUROPE AND HIGH PRICES, CAUSES

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—President Truman began work today on the blueprint he will submit to an emergency Congress to solve "compelling" problems of "high prices at home and hunger and cold abroad."

The chief executive is expected to make a personal appearance before a joint session of Congress when it convenes Nov. 17 to emphasize the urgency for "comprehensive legislation" to:

1. Deal with "inflation, high prices, and the high cost of living."

2. Provide 642 million dollars for stop-gap aid to France and Italy in addition to an undefined sum for occupation costs in Germany, Japan and Korea.

Warning Given

In a radio "fireside chat" to the nation last night, a grave-voiced president warned:

"Our domestic prosperity is endangered by the threat of inflation. The road is being paved for a recession or depression."

"The peace of the world is endangered by hunger and cold in other lands."

Mr. Truman declared:

"These obstacles (to peace and prosperity) must be overcome by prompt and courageous action."

"Legislation by the Congress is essential."

"Inflation must be stopped before it is too late. It is within our power to stop it."

"Congressional action to meet these needs cannot be delayed until January."

The president told the American people that it is this dual-crisis, one inextricably linked with the other.

Two Are Killed; Three Injured; In Cleveland Fire

(BULLETIN)
CLEVELAND, Oct. 25.—(INS)—Two men were killed and three firemen seriously burned today when a $400,000 blaze swept through the sprawling East Side Cleveland plant of the Perma Stain company.

No immediate identification was made of the victims but they were believed to be Charles Bastar, 60, the plant night watchman, and William Chavin, 45, a shipping clerk. Both were reported missing.

Three Firemen Hurt

In a serious condition in St. Alexis hospital were firemen Anthony Karlovic, James Hajek and Carl Shacka. They were caught in the explosion of a 55-gallon drum of inflammable thinner used in treating shingles manufactured by the company.

The firemen reportedly rushed from the building with their clothing ablaze. They threw themselves into a puddle of water to extinguish the flames.

Two explosions ripped through the plant.

War Mongering Issue Of Soviet Nearing Climax

Indications Russian Move To Be Buried Under Landslide Vote In U. N.

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 25.—The United Nations storm over "war mongering" neared a climax today following a blistering duel in which Russia's Andrei Vishinsky crossed swords with Warren R. Austin and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The torrent of words poured out by the Soviet bloc against the United States—in the opinion of practically all western delegates—has proved a boomerang.

Vishinsky's resolution apparently will be buried under a landslide vote.

Vishinsky Takes Floor

In an effort to counteract the rising tide of opposition, Vishinsky took the floor once more in the closing hour last night before the political and security committee.

He hurled unrestrained charges of war incitement against the United States.

U. S. Delegate Austin an hour later broadcast an answer to Vishinsky. He called the Russian attacks "a propaganda campaign to cast doubts on the sincerity and peaceful intentions of America."

Mrs. Roosevelt swung hard against Vishinsky's attacks in the U. N. Social committee. She said the United States Government is "gravely concerned" over the "distortions" and "half-truths."

ned For Borough To South

At a meeting held during the week, in Diaz Hall, West Pittsburg, a Recreation Committee was organized and plans were laid for the construction of a swimming pool for the children of the borough, as well as other recreational facilities for the residents of the borough.

Officers were elected resulting in Andrew Braykovich being named president of the committee, Joe Sparr, first vice president; George Braykovich, second vice president; Richard Elssner, secretary; and Tony Germaine, treasurer.

The committee chose the name of the Taylor Township Recreation Committee, and ways and means of raising the funds necessary to carry out the plans of the organization were discussed.

Another meeting was called for Friday evening, October 31, at 7:30 o'clock, in Diaz Hall, when further discussion of the project will be had. All citizens of the township will be invited to attend this next meeting.

MAINE HOMELESS

(BULLETIN)

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—(INS)—Reports of looting of the rich summer estates at Bar Harbor, Me., were coupled today with official information that three disastrous woodland fires had been set deliberately.

At the same time, a new fire threat loomed near Biddeford, Me., with a Catholic college, a convent and the beautiful Biddeford pool district facing possible destruction. Flames were close to a hospital at Rochester, N. H.

Four Under Arrest

Four men are under arrest as alleged looters at Bar Harbor. An attempt had been made also to rob the Bar Harbor Savings Bank.

Two alleged firebugs were taken to Alfred, Me., jail as flames again endangered the York county seat, where 1000 are homeless. Another incendiary was under arrest in North Reading, Mass., charged with setting a fire which menaced a tuberculosis hospital.

The attempted theft of silverware and furnishings in the ruins of Bar Harbor mansions was disclosed today.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(INS)—President Truman termed the State of Maine a "disaster area" today and directed the federal government to take all necessary measures to aid the fire-stricken state.

The chief executive signed an executive order directing Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, head of the Federal Works Agency, to send relief supplies into the fire-damaged areas of Maine immediately.

The president invoked public law 283 of the 80th Congress which permits federal aid to states suffering disasters.

Forest Fires In Mountains Near Johnstown Today

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 25.—(INS)—Twenty new forest fires were reported raging today in the tinder-dry Allegheny Mountain region near Johnstown and threatened widespread damage unless brought under control.

Fire Chief George Cartwright, of Johnstown, who directed scores of volunteer firemen and forest rangers, said the town of Cramer, in the Conemaugh Gap, was saved from possible destruction by flames last night.

He said the volunteers and rangers were successful in by-passing the fire around the community. Huge fire breaks were thrown up. State Forester Merritt J. Harding, meanwhile, said that approximately 1,000 acres of forest had been destroyed in the Brookville area since Oct. 15.

Harding said seven fires were started yesterday near Brookville by sparks from railroad locomotives. All were quickly brought under control.

Selection of the best poster in the Community Chest school children's "Red Feather" coloring contest is planned Monday night on the public square.

At that time, the entries, which will be given numbers, will be voted upon and the one receiving the most votes will be proclaimed the winner and a prize given the lucky boy or girl.

The best of the 4,000 entries in the contest are now in the window of the Pennsylvania Power company. It is planned to hold the popular vote between the hours of 5 and 8 p. m.

Some youth organization in the city will cast the votes, it was indicated.

Lines, Douglas Aircraft, the post office department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The body of a stewardess, parts of the plane and mail were found in the canyon 400 yards east of the crash scene.

Disintegrates Before Crash
Peyton said this indicated that the plane apparently had started to disintegrate before it crashed.

Presumably the tail controls of the plane were destroyed before the huge luxury liner could be brought to a landing.

The plane was bound from Los Angeles to New York with a stop at Chicago on its ill-fated flight.

Among the passengers were Claude D. Ryan, former president of Montgomery Ward & Co.; Jack Guenther, managing editor of Look magazine, and Jeff Burkett, rookie punting star of the Chicago Cardinals, professional football team.

Area Searched
Witnesses said that the entire area around the place where the plane crashed was searched as if by a giant blowtorch.

Four of the ship's engines were hurled as much as 200 yards away from the spot where the plane crashed.

Immediate identification of the bodies was impossible. Many were badly burned and lying at the bottom of the Arroyo. Investigators said these victims possibly attempted to leap from the plane as it crashed.

Witnesses said the craft had been in sight for some time before it crashed. They described it as a flaming meteor, trailing smoke and fire.

As it approached the landing strip it suddenly nosed down and a vast fire, fed by sprayed gasoline, enveloped the plane.

About three miles east of New Castle a young fawn darted from the side of the road directly in front of Mr. Carlson's car. He made a number of calls to find out who he should report the kill to and after half an hour was informed that Sam Slade of Harlansburg was the proper one.

Sunday inaugurates the annual observance of Girl Scout week, and will occasion some special programs in this county.

While a lot of folks were walking around with top coats this morning, Pa Newc, saw a youngster running about at the corner of East and Neshannock avenue, clad only in a one-piece sun suit. She had no shoes or stockings on, and did not seem to be suffering any from the cold.

Community Chest chairman George F. Winter wished to remind all the merchants of the city flying Red Feather flags in front of their places of business to continue to do so all next week until the termination of the annual effort.

President's Program Will Be Laid Before Leaders Of Nation

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(INS)—President Truman's program for inflation curbs at home and relief aid to the hungry abroad will be laid before a group of the nation's top business, industrial and labor leaders Monday.

The group has been called to the White House by Assistant to the President, John Steelman, for an off-the-record conference.

They will meet in the White House east wing. It is not clear whether the President will attend the session or whether his views will be placed before the business and labor leaders by Steelman and others.

The feature of the evening session was the All-Lawrence County high school mixed chorus, composed of boys and girls from the various high schools of the county.

Four directors led the chorus through a group of numbers that were well done. Robert A. Duff, vocal musical director of the senior high school here directed "Beautiful Saviour" by Christiansen and "Carol of the Bells" by Wilhisky.

Mrs. Elizabeth McCrumb of East Brook directed Mellett's "Lord's Prayer." Betty Robinson of Union township directed "Lamb of God" by Christiansen and "Listen to the Lambs" by Dett. Paul Gehn of Ellwood City directed "The Erie Canal" and "Dry Bones." Both arrangements of Fred Waring. Lois Baun a student of the senior high school was at the piano and Helen Frances of Mercer at the organ.

The report and recommendations of the House of Delegates was read by President Dr. George A. McCormick. The report of the resolutions Committee was read by Dr. Willard Stevens of Clarion. The session adjourned about 9:45.

CHARGE FIRES IN NEW ENGLAND DELIBERATELY SET

would-be robbers fled out of a rear door of the bank.

"Positive evidence" that at least two of Maine's disastrous forest fires were set deliberately was disclosed by the state arson chief today as the wild, woodland flames continued to rage unabated.

Work of Incendiaries
The announcement was made by Joseph A. P. Flynn, head of the Maine arson department, who said "we have positive evidence that two major fires are the work of incendiaries." State police added that 20 suspects have been questioned.

Two suspects were reported to have been arrested in the Hollis-Buxton area, where they assertedly were nabbed with an automobile loaded with excelsior and matches.

The forest fires have caused 13 deaths in Maine alone, made 8,000 persons homeless and damaged an estimated 38 million dollars worth of property. Fires in other New England states were reported "controlled or confined" as the Maine fires raged on.

Toll Reaches 18
The New England death toll from the fires has reached 18 and damage was estimated in excess of forty million dollars.

Maine, its heart eaten out by fiery blasts, was still aflame on three fronts, from the Portsmouth, N. H., border on the south all the way to Machias, just a few miles from the Canadian line.

Dozens of communities continued to be menaced by the flaming swath as upwards of 140,000 acres already lay in blackened ruins.

Maine's homeless were estimated at 8,000.

Bar Harbor In Ruins
Bar Harbor, two-thirds in ruins, battled on against smoldering blazes. At Seal Harbor—to the south—the fire fighters matched anything that has been seen in the last 24 hours. Fire fighters described the area as "hell on earth."

Perhaps, the most furious of all the conflagrations was raging far to the north in the Jonesboro and Machias districts. An estimated 1,000 persons were reported homeless there as farms and cottages quickly became reduced to ash heaps.

Although fires still burned dangerously for the first time in a week that its woodland blazes were for the moment controlled.

Deaths Of The Day

Samuel King, aged 78 years, Wampum, R. D. 2, died this morning at 5:15 o'clock at his residence as the result of a four months' illness. Born June 25, 1869, in Sharon, he was a son of the late William and Sevin Johnston King.

Survivors include one sister, Mrs. Carrie Young, Wampum, R. D. 2, two nieces, Mrs. Henry Laughlin and Mrs. Edward Market, both of Wampum, R. D. 2, a great niece and a great-nephew.

Two brothers, George and William King, preceded him in death.

The body will be removed this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock from the Marshall funeral home to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Laughlin, Wampum, R. D. 2, where friends will be received at anytime.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Clinton Methodist church with Rev. William R. Wigton officiating. Interment will take place in Clinton cemetery.

Mrs. Haus Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. Charles A. Haus, Cochran, Pa., R. D. 1, a former resident of New Castle, were conducted Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Fred C. Wolford funeral home, with Dr. S. E. Irvine officiating.

James Corp., George Brown, Wilfred Powell, George Bolinger, Joseph and Merle Brooks served as pallbearers.

Interment took place in Greenwood cemetery.

Argentina Takes Up Banner For Austria

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 25.—(INS)—Argentina moved today to reopen the battle for Austria's membership in the United Nations by submitting a formal resolution on such a step to the general assembly.

The Argentine pointed out in the request that only the Soviet Union's veto barred the security council's previous approval for Austria's admission.

The Argentine resolution also stressed that Austria is in a position to respect the charter provisions of the United Nations and that the Soviet veto was not based on conditions governing membership in the international organization.

'Keep 'Em Short' Members Parade

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(INS)—The "Keep 'Em Short" club, self-styled protectors of the American calf and arch foe of the "new look", is staging a parade today in New York's Time Square district.

Hundreds of members and celebrities of the club which has formed by radio, newspaper and other show business toppers, will participate.

The executives are Ann Corio, Judy Canova, Zero Mostel, Louis Prima, Dorothy Ross, Danny O'Neil, Red Benson, Henry Youngman and Morey Amsterdam. Their slogan:

"The Yankee gam is the best gam what am."

sure and speedy means of bringing prices down.

Congressmen, however, are voluble in their opposition to any return to either price control or rationing.

This much is known about the President's plan: He is understood to favor a return to the wartime government allocations system as one important means of bringing prices into line.

The system would give the government the power to channel available supplies of essential commodities for specific uses.

The theory of the allocations system is that it would cut out competitive bidding for commodities, which the President claims is the major cause of high prices.

This, in itself, the President's economic counselors have advised him, would cause prices of basic commodities to settle rapidly to normal levels.

UNDER INDICTMENT
SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 25.—(INS)—Robert G. Finney, 69, former vice president of the Citizens National bank of Muncy, was under a Federal grand jury indictment at Scranton today on charges of misappropriating $30,774.

Finney, who resides at Fairfax, Va., was a bank examiner for more than a quarter of a century until he resigned seven years ago to join the bank. The shortages, according to the indictment, occurred between January 17 and October 30 of last year.

Finney was dismissed by the bank when the speculations were uncovered.

The Rich Tints of Autumn Should Be in Your Home

Nature is lavish with her paint brush in the autumn. Somehow the autumn blooms seem to have the combined richness of the spring and the summer, and the vivid hues of the autumn brighten the world.

Brighten your home with autumn blooms. Chrysanthemums for example. Rich, lush beauties that seem to be carved out of wax. And their companions of the greenhouses, right now they defy description.

For that social event, or for just every day living, don't deny yourself some autumnal beauty in your home.

JUNIORS STAGE HALLOWEEN MARCH
Girls and boys of the junior department of the First Christian church were entertained at a halloween party Friday evening in the basement of the church.

The evening began with a grand march at which time the group of 32 paraded in the colorful costumes before the judges, Mrs. Dorothy Ferguson, J. R. Mitchell and Amos Myer, Sunday school superintendent.

Prizes were awarded to Elaine DeRekos, Patty McGowan and James King for the cleverest costumes.

A group of games was then enjoyed by the group followed by motion pictures shown by Mr. Myer and Delbert Jackson.

Following movies, the group was seated at a long table attractively decorated in orange and black and a lunch was served. The party was planned and carried out by Moulton Ferguson, assistant superintendent of the department, and Mrs. Ferguson.

Esther Eakin prepared the luncheon and Miss Laura Snider was in charge of games.

ATTENDANTS GIVE BRIDE-ELECT SHOWER
Mrs. Harley Bowman and Miss Shirley Patterson were joint hostesses Wednesday evening in the former's home, 936 Harrison street, for Miss Dolores Patterson, bride-elect of Saturday.

Games furnished entertainment during the evening and the bride-elect received a shower of gifts of a miscellaneous nature.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated with green and white and centered with a tiered cake.

Miss Patterson, who will become the bride of William Drexel Bowman, has asked Mrs. Harley Bowman and her sister Shirley to be her attendants. The wedding will take place Saturday evening in the First Baptist church.

Newlyweds At Home
Mr. and Mrs. Albert Logan have taken up residence at 717½ West Grant street in their newly furnished apartment following their marriage on October 12 in Holy Trinity church. Mrs. Logan is the former Alice Michaels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Michaels, of 2122 Berger street. Rev. F. Kuzmiski officiated at the exchange of vows.

The bride's attendants were Mrs. James Wirtz, maid of honor and bridesmaids, the Misses Eleanor Glasser, Florence Litwinowicz and Bernadine Surgenewich. James Wirtz served the groom as best man and ushers were Alex Michaels, Michael Boruch, of Bradford, and Carl Stevens.

Supplementing the ceremony a dinner was served in a local hall where in the evening there was a reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Logan departed on a wedding trip. She is employed at the Shenango Pottery and he is engaged in the trucking business.

C. S. C. Club
The C. S. C. club will meet Monday evening, October 27, at 8 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Helen Morris, 802½ W. State street.

The club met recently with Mrs. Margaret Hardney as hostess. The evening was spent informally.

Stella Carkitto's TROTH IS REVEALED
Mrs. John Carkitto, of 115 West Moody avenue, announces the betrothal of her daughter, Miss Stella Carkitto, to Philip Richards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Richards, of 110 East Home street.

Wedding plans are incomplete.

BERENICE CYNAR ENGAGED, REVEALED
Mrs. Joseph F. Cynar, of 108 Wilder avenue, announces the engagement of her daughter Berenice Cynar to Chester A. Polansky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Polansky, of 317 East Wallace avenue.

No date has been set for the wedding.

STELLA CARKITTO'S TROTH IS REVEALED
Mrs. John Carkitto, of 115 West Moody avenue, announces the betrothal of her daughter, Miss Stella Carkitto, to Philip Richards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Richards, of 110 East Home street.

MOCKEL-FINLEY EVENING NUPTIALS

In the Second U. P. church Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, Miss Marjorie Mae Mockel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mockel, of 321 Moore avenue, and George O. Finley, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Finley, Youngstown road, were united in marriage at an open church double ring ceremony. Rev. J. Calvin Rose officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin wedding gown, en train, fashioned with a high neckline, long sleeves, a fitted bodice and full skirt. Her fingertip veil fell from a headband of shirred satin and she carried a bouquet of white roses and white baby mums.

As her maid of honor, Miss Shirley Finley, sister of the groom, also wore a gown of white satin but with short sleeves and carried red roses. Howard Ashton was best man for the groom and ushers were George Miller and Alfred Sadler.

Appropriate nuptial selections were played by the church organist.

Following the ceremony there was a reception in the home of the bride's parents for 50 guests who were served buffet refreshments. Aides were Mrs. Freda Henry, Mrs. Harold Roper, and Mrs. Martha Alvord.

Mr. and Mrs. Finley left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and will be at home after October 28 with the groom's parents on the Youngstown road.

Mrs. Finley is employed at the G. C. Murphy Company and Mr. Finley at the Universal Manufacturing Company.

BRIDE AND GROOM TAKE UP RESIDENCE
Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lennox have taken up residence at 208 East Cherry street here following their wedding in the bride's home in Hillsville on October 18.

The bride is the former Miss Charlotte Lorraine Heasley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Heasley, of Hillsville.

Nuptial vows were exchanged at a quiet ceremony at 2 o'clock in the afternoon with Rev. Rudolph J. Johnson, pastor of the Hillsville Methodist church, officiating in the presence of the immediate families.

The ceremony was followed by a wedding dinner served to the bridal party and families at 4 o'clock with a reception for friends at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Miss Luella Heasley was her sister's maid of honor and Karl Keneskie of Lowellville, served the groom as best man. Mr. Lennox formerly resided at Lowellville, R. D. 2.

YOUNG PEOPLE GO FOR HAY RIDE
Young people of the First Christian church choir, several of whom are home from college or service for the weekend, enjoyed an old-fashioned hay ride by moonlight Thursday evening.

Piloted by Bill McCombs, a large milk truck with a group of 45 left the church at 9 o'clock, drove through town and out to Volant, over to East Brooks, and back to the city, on the Harlanburg road where they stopped at a suburban diner for refreshments.

Group singing was a pastime. Accompanying the group of young people were Mrs. Kathryn Nessel Allen and Mrs. Esther Eakin.

P. A. V. Club
Mrs. Martin Tomczyk of R. D. 8 Hanna street, entertained the P. A. V. club at her home Thursday evening. A new president was elected with honors going to Mrs. Martin Tomczyk. Vice president is Mrs. Michael Motosko.

Games were evening's pastime with door prize going to Mrs. Walter Makarevich.

A dainty lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter Dolores. The table was decorated with halloween colors and trimmings for the occasion.

Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Mike Buczyk, R. D. 8 Hanna street, on Thursday, Nov. 13.

Special Practice
Rachel Rebekah Lodge, 40, will have a special practice on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the I.O.O.F. Hall. Officers and drill teams are to participate.

Business College PLANS MASQUERADE
Students of the New Castle Business College with friends as guests will gather for a masquerade in the Y. W. C. A. on October 30 at 7:30 p. m. All those planning to attend have been asked to come masked.

Joseph Vitale is general chairman of arrangements and committees are: food, Jane Lepore and Mrs. Thomas J. Boyle; decorations, Tony Gebbia and Olivia Palumbo; entertainment, Esther Gregory and Ralph Pettit; finance, Peggy Book.

GEFULTTE FISH DINNER PLANNED
An old-fashioned gefultte fish dinner will be given by Tifereth Israel Sisterhood in Tifereth Israel synagogue on November 2. Dinner will be served from 6-8 p. m.

IMPORTANT NOTICE
To All Users of HOME PERMANENT WAVES

Mar-Vo-Kurl should not be confused with cold waves, because Mar-Vo-Kurl uses heat, the same kind of Machineless Heat Units that beauty shops have been using for years. There is absolutely no danger or guesswork with Mar-Vo-Kurl.

THE ORIGINAL AND INCOMPARABLE
Mar-Vo-Kurl
HOME PERMANENT WAVE
(Machineless Heat Method)

Mar-Vo-Kurl has been successfully used by hundreds of thousands of women during the past ten years. The solution contains no ammonium thioglycolate or harsh chemicals harmful to the hair or scalp. Mar-Vo-Kurl creates luxurious, lasting waves and soft natural curls—the kind for which beauty shops charge as high as $25.00.

Mar-Vo-Kurl is a scientific home permanent with patented features that make it easy to apply. Just do this:

FOUR EASY, SIMPLE STEPS!

- 1 Slip strand of hair through felt and metal plates, which permit you to adjust the hair to make curls any length desired.
- 2 Moisten the strand of hair with Mar-Vo-Kurl solution, containing Lanolin, which keeps the hair soft and silky while the permanent is being created.
- 3 Roll the hair on the patented cloth curlers, which roll the hair all one way, leaving no snarly or fish-hook ends.
- 4 Place the heat unit over the curl, and snap on the spring-pinch clip. In a few minutes you have lustrous, soft curls that will not wash out.

YOU WILL BE ASTONISHED AT THE RESULTS... SO QUICK, SO CLEAN, SO SIMPLE TO USE

HELP PREVENT FOREST FIRES

Pennsylvania's parched woodlands, suffering from the protracted drought, are in grave danger because of the threat of disastrous fires. Already a number of blazes have been reported.

In New Jersey, New York and New England conditions are even worse. Forest fires spread destruction on all sides. Fire-fighting facilities have been taxed to the limit, miles of woods have been leveled and homes burned to the ground. Governor Dewey has closed all wooded areas in New York to recreation.

Extraordinary precautions are obviously needed. Anyone who has no important business in forests should stay away until the danger period is past, which means until heavy rains have had time to saturate the dead leaves, dry branches and punk-like root masses. As the Chief of the Forest Protection Division says: "This is no time for fun or play in the woods."

It is no time for hunting, either. The season for small game in Pennsylvania has been called off until sufficient rainfall brings the woodlands to normal.

Governor Duff took action after making a visit to the forests and noting the conditions.

He came away "absolutely appalled" by conditions, and insisted that every precaution be taken to avoid the starting of fires anywhere that might spread to the woods. All state forests are closed during the crisis.

What the average person can do to help prevent fires during the dry spell is this: Stay away from the woods unless it is unavoidable, and then don't smoke or build camp fires. Don't throw lighted matches, cigars or cigarettes from a car passing wooded areas. Defer the burning of masses of leaves until the drought is ended.

Forest fires can wreak terrible devastation upon the countryside. To prevent them wherever we can is one of our duties as citizens.

CORNFIELD REVOLUTION

To many persons there is no rural sight quite so satisfying in the fall of the year as a field of corn in the shock, with the rows of stubble in between. Then there has always been the corn-shucking scene—men and sometimes women bending over piles of fodder as they tear the ears from the stalks and strip the shucks from the yellow grain, while on their hands flash the steel and yellow leather of the shucking-pegs, and the piles of corn mount higher.

In the West it has been good-bye to shocks and hand-shucking for several years since the mechanical corn-pickers took over. But many persons confess to a sad nostalgia at seeing machinery do faster and more economically, if not better, a job that was sociable, picturesque, and evocative of the strongest feelings Americans have at this time of year.

A cornfield after the passing of a corn-picker is a scene of devastation—nothing but broken and flattened stalks crushed to earth, with here and there broken ears and nubbins that the machine could not handle. The picker does in a day or two what it took a whole family weeks or months of desultory work to accomplish, and no doubt the time and labor saved is all to the good.

THE ARMY STAYS

The American tradition against military control of civil activities is well founded and of long standing. It goes back to the Declaration of Independence, which cited military independence of civil control as one of its proofs that George III was a tyrant. The principle is also carefully preserved in the Constitution.

General Marshall, when he was still Army chief of staff, was true to this tradition when he urged Secretary Byrnes to take the job of administering occupied enemy countries away from the Army as soon as possible. It was a headache, and Marshall didn't want it—though when he succeeded Byrnes he still thought the job should be handled by the State Department.

Now Marshall has reversed himself. The Army will continue to handle administration of occupied areas in Germany, Austria, Japan and Korea. Transfer involved so many practical problems, almost insoluble ones, that it has been "indefinitely postponed."

One of the problems may be the State Department's difficulty in getting good men on government pay. Now that the war is over, it is almost impossible to get men capable of earning $50,000 a year in private life to take a government job paying perhaps $10,000.

A general, who has made a career of government service and whose base pay is less than that sum, may be available for the post. The Army has not done too well in administering occupied areas—with the exception of Japan—but the job is tough and civilians might have done no better.

Washington Calling

By Marquis Childs

How Europe Is Interpreting U. S.

LONDON, Oct. 25. — Robert Burns wrote about the gift of seeing ourselves as others see us. For Americans at this particular moment in history, that gift is supremely important.

Seen from this side of the Atlantic, our uncertainties, our divisions, our fumbling hesitation, our timidity have quite a different look. Back home we say: "That's just politics, and an election year is coming up. But Europeans always measure our off-again-on-again performance alongside the vast economic power for good or evil that is today concentrated in the United States. This is a fact which, as Americans, we are too often inclined to forget."

Europe cannot forget it. Europe knows that the decisions we take, or fail to take, will determine the direction of history for a long time. The Communists know it, believe me! And not alone of Communists! The conservatives and the moderates, who stand to lose most in any catastrophic change, are watching our backing and filling with the kind of breathless fear that would be inspired by watching a tight-rope walker over Niagara Falls.

Alarm Given Long Ago
Consider the present moment and what led up to it. In early May, Britain's foreign secretary, Ernest Bevin, began to tell U. S. Ambassador Lewis Douglas that the economic condition in France would be critical by early fall. Bevin knew it would be even more acute than in Britain.

Similar and yet more staccato warnings came from France and the Continent. The three-Alarm fire bell was ringing six months ago. Yet the firemen are still arguing. They are arguing not alone about the fire, but on the level of whether or not it should be put out, or whether we can afford to put it out.

That is not an exaggeration. One of the congressmen returning from Europe showed me an editorial from his home-town paper arguing that if Europeans wanted to go Communist, we should let them go Communist, and see how they liked it. Having done a conscientious job of study in Europe, this middle western Republican knew what a Communist Europe would mean to America, and he shook his head grimly over the editorial.

Round and Round
Ernest Bevin knows the reason for our hesitations and indecisions. He knows that under our Constitution, when the Congress is held by one party and the presidency by another, it is all but impossible to carry out a positive foreign policy. Bevin and informed Europeans understand that an undertaking entered into by the President does not in any way bind the Congress. Hence the rotary movement, round and round and round, reflected in the dispatches from Washington.

From this side it sometimes seems that Americans have a feeling of frustration at not being able to move decisively. And as a compensation for their frustration, they go after the scapegoat of Communism. The idea is to pile all the blame on the Communists for all of Europe's ills.

To Europeans it does not look as simple as that. They fear that the continuous scream of "Communism" can and only in inevitable war between two blind giants.

France's Trouble
France is a good illustration of what this means. Every upset, including the recent strike on the subway, is put down to the machinations of the Communists. Actually, in France there are very grave economic strains which put a heavy burden on all wage-earners. The surprising thing is not that there have been so few, but that there have been so few.

They Say

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. — Chester Bowles, director of the United Nations appeal for children: "More people will die of starvation next year than were killed by bombs and bullets during any similar period of the second world war."

NEW YORK — Former Army Scientist Samuel A. Goudsmit, revealing how far behind the United States the Nazis were in atomic research: "Months after our scientists had established the feasibility of the atom bomb the Germans still were talking about the 'uranium problem' and the possibility of erecting a 'uranium machine.'"

WASHINGTON — Screen Actor Gary Cooper, denying an Italian communist pamphlet reporting that he had helped carry the coffin at the funeral of Buster Crabbe, supposed communist "martyr": "Mr Crabbe is a very healthy specimen."

WASHINGTON — Former Assistant War Secretary Louis Johnson: "In the next war, there will not be a Pearl Harbor day."

KARACHI, India — Mohammed Ali Jinnah, governor general of Pakistan, opposing the UN commission to partition Palestine: "Pakistan fully supports the Arabs to do whatever lies in their power to prevent this outrage."

Flash! Forest Fires Rage

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

LET CHILD LEARN TO WASH SELF

Recently a mother volunteered: "In my college days I well remember a certain girl who did not keep her face and neck and hands clean. Such matters as personal cleanliness she considered unimportant. The girl proved repellent to her college mates and, at the end of the school term, although she broke no rules of the institution and failed in no subjects, she was invited by the dean, not to return."

"The curious thing about this whole matter was that she came from an excellent home and that her mother was immaculate. Indeed, her mother seemed almost possessed with an obsession about personal cleanliness. I knew the family well. From the time this girl was a baby till she went to college her mother always scrubbed her ears and neck."

No Responsibility
Apparently this young woman had never learned responsibility for washing her own dirty neck and ears. Her mother had eternally exhorted her on cleanliness and forever robbed her of the opportunity to acquire the habit of doing her own toilet.

Here is a fine example of the uselessness of words alone in development of ideals. It should be added that the daughter had no doubt grown so calloused to the mother's constant lectures about keeping clean that her college life proved to be a glorious escape from the thing that had grown to be distasteful. None the less the matter proved tremendously important.

Sympathy For Mother
We have a deal of sympathy for the mother of that college girl. Her motives were the best. Her experience naturally caused her to have great anxiety about her girl. But the more she fretted, talked and scrubbed, the less her daughter gained from the solicitude.

How many another mother is proceeding in like manner with their children at the age of six or sixteen! Washed and scrubbed by her once or twice every day for months and years, and lectured by her many times as often, is it not a wonder that so many folk of college age acquire responsibility for keeping themselves reasonably clean?

As soon as the child can toddle let him learn to wash his hands and face alone. Provide a basin for him on a box or platform that is low, or sturdy steps on which he easily can climb to wash from the regular bowl.

Have a mirror hanging low by which he may know when his face and neck are clean. Set your standards reasonably and hold him to them. Just inspect and do not let him "pass" until he measures up. Don't wash your children with your tongue. Don't be a cat.

From Me To You

By MESEKALL

Being of the same type as most of you people we enjoy engaging into a little harmless prognostication . . . and we feel very much delighted with ourselves today in being able to say that our prognostication was right . . . namely, we were asked yesterday to join with a group who were guessing what the total score would be between New Castle and Erie East. Being near the end of a long list of guesses and not being able to use any number that had already been entered into the contest, we pondered, and pondered, and due to sheer mathematical undertaking came up with a number which today is considered the best number of the week . . . 39 brought home the bacon . . . Well, just a little for this is the first time we have been on the black side of the ledger since a way back in the ages. This all got us to thinking that the odds for a win are too great. Counting up past experiences in such a venture shows that the red ink is still flowing freely.

Some of our feline members of the county are just as adept to travel as some you read about in national magazines. About three months ago Gill Hodge, caretaker of the Pulaski Auction Sales, gave a large tom cat to Elia Phillips of the Pulaski Sales and who resides at West State Street this city . . . about a month and a half ago the cat turned up missing, but a few mornings ago Mr. Hodge called the Phillips homestead and informed them that he had found the cat curled up contentedly in the auction barn at Pulaski . . . the cat had found his way home over a distance of 12 miles, and the surprising thing is, when the cat was brought to New Castle it was encased in a box on the floor of an automobile . . . so there you are.

* Please don't forget that we need your help in making the New Castle Community Chest a huge success. Everybody should feel that it is his duty to support the Chest . . . regardless . . . so, remember, "Everybody Benefits, Everybody Gives".

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

On October 2 I told you about an advertisement in the Hollywood Citizen-News in which Columbia Pictures asked for an extremely ugly woman and stated that the job would go to the ugliest applicant.

In my column I made the—what I thought wise—observation that no woman would ever admit that she is ugly.

"And so the ad will remain unanswered" I concluded.

Today I received a letter from Harry Palmer Jr., managing editor of the Citizen-News. He informs me that there were more than 60 replies to the advertisement and that the job has been filled.

"I know it sounds odd," he says, "but the lure of motion pictures is extremely strong."

I agree with Mr. Palmer that the lure of motion pictures is indeed extremely strong.

But I do think that in this particular case it was not so much the lure of the motion pictures as the lure of the money paid for the job and the trip to California.

Perhaps I stated my case wrongly in my previous column.

Perhaps I should have said that unless she is so terribly ugly that no woman admits that she is ugly her very ugliness becomes an asset and nothing can be done to make her even passably attractive.

Come to think of it, Sarah Bernhardt was a frightfully ugly woman and so was Mistinguette, the famous French soubrette.

Both of them cashed in on their ugliness, but both of them also had unusual talent and personality.

Both of them made enormous amount of money and had all the clothes and jewelry and other possessions that any human being would want to have.

But were they happy?

Would they not have exchanged all their goods for beauty and the physical charm that every woman craves?

Of course, we writers and the preachers and the teachers and the psychologists do a lot of talking about beauty of character and things more important than physical appeal.

Frankly—and that includes myself—when we do so we are rationalizing.

Not that what we say isn't true. But it is just like those meat-serve now.

We would like a nice juicy steak on Tuesdays but we can't have it.

So we take the next best thing—a cheese souffle or codfish cakes. These dishes are good for us, no doubt, but what is good for us doesn't necessarily appeal to us most.

So, even the homely women brains will still continue to go to with very fine characters and hardihoods and buy cosmetics and wear the most becoming clothes they can get, in an attempt to be as attractive as possible.

In other words, the 60 replies that ad proved nothing. (Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

and the Mud Puddles

CAN THEY DO IT?

When Great Britain surrendered the reins of government in India to the natives of that turbulent land, two thoughts, or questions, doubtless occurred to those who have observed the struggle that finally resulted in independence.

First, does this mean that peace and prosperity for the three hundred fifty millions of people affected will follow, or second, is it the beginning of a long and cruel religious war?

Religious wars have been fought throughout history and, strange as it may seem, they have outranked the bitterest of territorial and political struggles in cruelty. This perhaps is because men feel their religious convictions more deeply and express them more positively than is the case where a mere desire for more territory, or control of trade, is the motive for conflict.

Long Struggle

The struggle between the Indians both Hindu and Moslem, has been one of the longest in history. It has been marked by almost every type of opposition to British rule, ranging from armed conflict and tragic bloodshed to passive resistance. It has been a costly struggle for both sides and there is little to indicate that the cost to the Indians will be lessened. They, it appears, merely will fight each other instead of the British. The only certainty that seems obvious is that they will continue fighting.

England has never "owned" India to the degree of actually having title to the lands and properties, except those bought and operated by British companies. Britain's control of the inhabitants has been possible only because the latter were so sharply divided in their views of government. To the Hindu, rule by a Moslem is unthinkable, even more abominable than British rule. To the Moslem, rule by a Hindu was equally abhorrent.

In other words, Great Britain has exercised control, political and economic, over the populous country solely because the natives have never been able to agree on a scheme of government themselves.

One Answer

One answer to the perplexing problem was achieved by the creation of two dominions—India and Pakistan. The Hindus will dominate the former, the Moslems the latter. Then came the difficulty (Continued on Page Seven)

Has No Use For Neat Desk

By PAUL GALLICO

Without seeming to appear a professional carper with regard to the female of the species, for whom, as I have pointed out before, I have nothing but the highest regard, I wish some student of human nature or married gent would inform me what it is that compels the little woman to go straightening up the desk of her ever-loving mate so that papers which have been left in carefully calculated disarray are committed to neat and handy little piles, labelled and ticked in such an efficient and housewifely manner that they vanish forever from the ken of man.

No Use For Neat Desk

I cannot find papers on a neat desk. I cannot keep my beloved, my helpmeet, my life's partner from making order thereon. I have tried threats and cajolery, banished clubs, pikes, halberds and morningsters before her and conversely made offers to shower her with diamonds, emeralds, furs, country estates, yachts and motor cars, if only she will keep her delicate pink fingers out of the finely ordered chaos I maintain on my work bench. Nothing helps. Some inner compulsion that animates Woman is stronger than she. Sooner or later I will arrive home from some brief trip to recognize at once something hideously foreign about my study and my wife in hiding. It has happened again. My desk has been cleaned up. Surely, my brothers, there must be amongst you some who have encountered and conquered this problem.

Must Be In Disorder

There must be in your midst, my readers, some who have a photographic mind for the location of every article, bill, manuscript, letter contract, document and billet-doux buried deep, or scattered helter-skelter over a table top, but who become blank and helpless in the face of ordered files, neat heaps, and folders labelled—"Bills," "Receipts," "Important Mail," "Orders from Nice Editors," "Rejections from Blind, Illiterate Editors," etc., etc. Once such a tabulation has been made, I am through. I cannot find a thing. I won't even look for it.

It is a entirely different matter when you are in an office and everything is kept neatly filed away and all you have to do is push the buzzer and say, "Miss Twiggens, that letter I wrote last March to Wumble & Sons about the sub-contract for batteries for electric eels, will you get it for me, and their reply, please?" Miss Twiggens thereupon goes to the file, opens it, picks out the letters you want and hands them over. We have seen her do it a hundred times. But when Miss Twiggens remains home for a day with the megrims, or goes off and gets married, can WE find anything in those same files? Not on your life, even though things are plainly marked and beneath our noses, that is to say, if you belong to our little group.

See It In Other Homes

But to return to this passion for tidying up a man's domain that obsesses the sisterhood of faithful, loving, and otherwise useful wives, I have observed it manifesting itself in many forms in the homes of my friends. Some ladies not content with merely straightening up the top of the desk invade the drawers, and "put things" away and "change things around a bit for the better," so that the carbon paper is now where the old bills used to be, the pencils, erasers and clips have been transferred from the left side to the right side, the stationery has been scattered and the ink has vanished completely. It takes a man six to eight months to memorize the contents of desk drawers and where to reach for things when he wants them. In ten minutes the Little Woman, can destroy his system utterly.

Same Illogical Angel

And this, mind you, is the same illogical angel who screams for the police if you so much as set foot across the threshold of her boudoir, or invade the middle drawer of her vanity table in search of a nail file or a safety pin, and who calls for the fire department AND the rescue squad if she catches you even hovering about her kitchen or her pantry.

Search not for the high, the low, or the middle justice in these matters for there is none, and as far as I know, no any workable deterrent either, unless you know of one not yet tried.

Mr. friend, J. P. McEvoy, whose squaw, as he has written, is often a victim of the urge to "neaten up" his desk and his study, took the obvious and dreadful revenge one day. He went into HER room and did a job of counter-neatening which took her two weeks to unravel. Only to discover that this was not the answer. She looked upon this logical retaliation with the hurt eyes of a child in the presence of a savage prankster, and saw no connection whatsoever between what she considered a somewhat sordid practical joke of his, and her periodic "neatening" flurries in which she turned his den and workshop upside down, purely for his own good.

If you know of an answer, kindly advise. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

In View Of The News

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

International political attention centered again today about the tall, spare figure of Gen. Charles De Gaulle and the whole world wondered whether he is to take over the French government and rally France against communism.

Secluded at his farm near Chaumont on the historic river Marne, De Gaulle maintained silence on his aims and intentions.

He was fully alive to the fact that his reunion party had scored such a smashing victory in last Sunday's municipal elections that Premier Paul Ramadier was compelled to reorganize his whole government in a vital future of emergency.

He was fully alive to the fact that his reunion party had scored such a smashing victory in last Sunday's municipal elections that Premier Paul Ramadier was compelled to reorganize his whole government in a vital future of emergency.

It is easily apparent that the unforeseen crisis in France took all segments of the political scene by surprise.

Premier Ramadier, standing for the first time at the head of his new streamlined cabinet of 13 men in place of the previous 24, charged that certain elements—prematurely communists and De Gaullists—were seeking to undermine the new French constitution.

Gen. De Gaulle's brother Pierre a banker who never before dabbled in politics—answered for the austere military leader whose unheeded warnings of French unpreparedness in 1940 are now part of history.

But he kept his counsel, apparently waiting until balloting this coming Sunday "in small French towns and outlying agrarian areas determine definitely whether national political sentiment has turned against all aspects of socialism as such and has swung to the right."

NESHANNOCK POST AUXILIARY DINNER

Ladies auxiliary to the Neshannock Post VFW No. 315 were hosts Wednesday, October 23, at a tureen dinner in the post rooms for members and their husbands, it being the celebration of the second anniversary of the founding of the post, and a birthday event for Mrs. Isobel McKee, newly elected president of the auxiliary.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Emma Woods, singing "Salute to the Flag" and a tribute to the Gold Star Mothers of the post followed. Following the dinner a feature was the singing of "America."

Commander James Bell as organizer of the auxiliary was called on for a speech and Mrs. Evelyn Woods and Mrs. Temple Stickle as installing officers also were called on for talks. The first president of the auxiliary Mrs. Carrie Shaffer also gave a fine talk, as did Mrs. McKee. First Commander Frank Sargent and also a past commander George Christoph.

A surprise party honoring the birthday of Mrs. McKee was held at this point in the evening, opening with the singing of "Happy Birthday." A reading entitled "Making Friends" was read by Joan Sargent. A song was sung by Mrs. Frances Habib, and readings were also given by senior vice commander Mrs. Rilla Rishel, and junior vice commander Mrs. Probst. The pianist for the evening was Mrs. May Christoph.

Mrs. McKee was given a lovely gift and a cake. The singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" closed the occasion. The remainder of the hours were spent in cards. Flowers for the event were donated by Mrs. Rishel and Mrs. Jones. Later on bouquets were sent to the Deshon Hospital and a bouquet and cake were sent to Mrs. Rebecca Strong who is ill.

BEREAN CLASS ELECTS OFFICERS

At a meeting of the Berean Bible class of the First Presbyterian church, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. WHEN A FAMILY NEEDS A FRIEND ...Your Red Feather Service Responds

These services are not concerned with the very poor alone but with any family in distress. They are helping families face such problems as unhealthy and abnormal housing, unemployment, problems about the behavior of children, rehabilitation for adults who have had unfortunate experience. And every thinking person knows that a healthy family group makes for less crime and less unhappiness.

The Red Feather Service is often the only friend a family can turn to when troubles and problems become so big that they cannot be solved without outside help.

Alliance Pastors Exchange Pulpits

Rev. J. H. Boon Will Speak At
Golden Anniversary Services
At Irvona Alliance Church

At least three district Christian and Missionary Alliance churches will have visiting pastors in their pulpits on Sunday morning. The churches affected include: Gospel Tabernacle, Pearson street; Hoover Heights Tabernacle, South New Castle, and Drake Tabernacle, No. 2 Mine.

At Pearson street, Rev. J. H. Boon, the pastor, will be absent, when he will be in Irvona, Pa., speaking at the golden anniversary services of the Irvona Christian and Missionary Alliance church, where Rev. Clyde Bookamer, formerly of this city, is pastor. In his absence, Rev. Francis Johannides of Hoover Heights will be speaking in the Pearson street church. During the morning service, Rev. Johannides will speak on "Great Grace Resting Upon Us," while his evening theme will be an evangelistic one.

At Hoover Heights, Harry Polding, pastor at No. 2 Mine, will be speaking Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock, while in the evening the gospel team at the Universal Pottery will be presenting the program. The City Mission Trio will be heard during the 6:30 young people's hour and the 7:30 o'clock service.

A visiting speaker will be heard in the No. 2 Mine pulpit, it is announced by Mr. Polding.

Tightens Security

REAR ADM. R. H. HILLENKOETER

SUSPENDING at least 12 of his staff as bad security risks, Rear Admiral R. H. Hillenkoeter (above), chief of the nation's new Central Intelligence Agency in Washington, has declared "you've got to have high standards for work in security." It is reported most of the suspensions took place in the foreign broadcast section which listens to radio propaganda from Russia and other countries. The CIO United Public Workers Union has issued a protest over the dismissals. (International)

First Baptists To Have Revival

Warren Brewin And Paul Plack Of Los Angeles, Calif., Will Open
Two Weeks' Meetings

Beginning Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, Rev. Warren Brewin and Paul Plack, evangelist and singer respectively, of Los Angeles, Calif., will open a two-week revival campaign in First Baptist church, North at East street, it is announced by the pastor, Rev. Oliver W. Hurst. Working under the auspices of the Charles E. Fuller Foundation, the men were heard fall in a similar campaign in the county. Mr. Plack, a converted opera singer, attracts many by his interpretation of the gospel songs. He also leads the song services.

The meetings will continue nightly at 7:45 o'clock, with no offerings to be taken the first week Monday through Friday evening, and Monday through Wednesday of the second week.

Rev. M. H. Daniels Will Speak Sunday

Rev. M. H. Daniels, pastor of the A. M. E. Zion church, Franklin, will speak Sunday morning, October 26, at 11 o'clock in St. Luke's A. M. E. Zion church in the absence of Rev. K. L. Buford, leader of the congregation. Music will also be offered by the senior choir of the local church under leadership of Mrs. Mary Webster.

Susan Silverstone, Singers will offer a musical program Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, in St. Luke's church.

NAZARETH METHODIST CHURCH ON W. K. S. T.

Nazareth charge of the Methodist church of Grove City district will broadcast over Station WKST Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, during the regular New Castle Ministerial hour.

The church choir will present the special music, with Alex Arrow of Volant assisting the pastor, Rev. Abram P. Shaffer on the program. Rev. Shaffer will speak on "Thou Shalt Not Follow a Multitude To Do Evil."

Akron, O., Group On Youth Program

Final Service Of Youth For Christ
To Be Held This Evening At First Methodist Church

Rev. C. H. Corts and the Ambassadors' male trio of Akron, O., will be heard this evening at 8 o'clock in the First Methodist church, North and Jefferson streets, in the final Youth for Christ service to be held in that church by the local group.

Rev. Corts, who has spoken to many youth groups throughout the tri-state area, has a progressive church work in Akron. The trio of men from his church includes Harry A. Snyder, George Hildebrand, Sr., and George Hildebrand, Jr.

Aiding also in the musical program will be the Youth for Christ ensemble led by Miss Mary Aiken in several numbers. Rev. Howard Sartell, who has just been re-elected director of the movement, will be directing the service.

Beginning on Saturday evening, November 1, the meetings will be held in the First Baptist church, North at East street. The move closes two years of service in the First Methodist auditorium, with the first service held there on November 10, 1945. The first speaker at the First Baptist church will be Rev. Warren Brewin, who will be assisted by soloist Paul Plack, both of the Fuller Foundation, Los Angeles, Calif.

Third U. P. Will Have Rededication

A service of rededication will characterize the eleven o'clock morning worship hour at the Third U. P. church, Sunday, October 26. Now that the weighty mortgage burden has been eliminated it is entirely fitting that every member of the congregation consecrate himself to Christ's work.

The elders, trustees, deacons, Bible school leaders, missionary society and youth group officers will be seated in separate bodies in reserved sections of the church sanctuary. Each group will signify its intention to renewed effort. The membership of the congregation will pledge itself to zealous service.

The recent burning of the mortgage of twenty years standing opens the way for new and varied Christian emphasis. Announcement of a program of expansion will be made soon.

Center U. P. Will Have Sing Sunday

There is continued interest in the community song service which is being conducted each Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the Center U. P. church. Many young people are especially noted in the attendance at these meetings. People of the community are striving to build a strong Christian fellowship in that district by making the church a place, where folks may join in singing and prayer.

Special music will be offered October 26, by Ray Meenan. Rev. W. F. Holmes, leader of the congregation, will give an illustrated sermon on the theme "Jesus As Healer."

South Side Church Will Have Revival

Rev. C. D. Patterson, pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist church, Lyndal street announced today, that 13 days revival will begin in the church Tuesday evening, with evangelist, Rev. Loran Irby and Mrs. Golden Young of Marion, Indiana, presenting the evangelistic program.

Rev. Irby will bring old time gospel addresses, while Mrs. Young will be in charge of the music. The services are held at 7:30 p.m. daily and will conclude on Sunday, November 9.

SHOULD SHE WRITE TO OUT-OF-TOWN BOY

"About two weeks ago, I met a boy from out of town. He promised to write to me; but as yet, I have heard nothing. I am considering writing to him as a reminder. Do you think I should?"

Answer: May be he will write to you and may be he will be side-tracked by some other girl more conveniently located. Absence makes the heart grow fonder usually, for someone else. Since he said he would write and did not ask you to write to him, don't write until you hear from him. If you go away on a vacation, you might, if you are interested, send him a greeting card. Under the circumstances, a letter is a little too obvious.

Question: I have always heard that it is proper, as a large party or tea, to speak to guests to whom one has not been introduced. Is this correct?

Answer: At small gatherings, of course, everyone is introduced to everyone else; but at large parties, such as wedding receptions and teas, you may speak to those seated near you, even though you have not been introduced. You should do this, especially should you find yourself seated near a stranger who looks lonely and neglected.

Question: Please pronounce vaudeville: menu; chauffeur.

Answer: Vode-ville, not vaude-ville. Men-yu. Show-tur. Emphasis on the last syllable is preferred.

Question: My husband is about to attend a business convention and would like some pointers on hotel registration.

Answer: If registering for himself, a man enters his name and address as John Smith, New York City, omitting all titles, such as Mr., Colonel, Senator, etc., the exception being "Dr." which hotels prefer to be added in case of emergency among other guests. If a man's wife accompanies him, he should register "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith" never "John Smith and wife".

editorial on stop-gap aid, had this to say:

"While the peasants have grown richer the workers have grown steadily poorer, and this at a time when their representatives have claimed a large share of the responsibility for government. Where prices have risen uninterruptedly, wages have remained or have been held within fairly narrow limits. This widening breach between wages and prices has caused widespread discontent among the working class."

U. S. Aid Most Essential

Those harsh economic facts cannot be brushed away merely by crying Communism. Substantial aid from America would help more than anything else to remedy the cause of the strikes and the discontent.

As heard from this side of the Atlantic, the cry for a crusade against Communism—it has something of that shrill sound as it echoes across the water—goes oddly with American military policy. That policy appears to be one of slashing economy endangering even minimum military security. Policy on such trouble spots as Palestine has an evasive wordy sound that commits the United States to nothing but platitudes.

And the one commodity that seems to flow without stint to all countries is advice—advice on how every country should settle all its problems. We had better stare hard into the looking glass to learn why this distorted image often seems to Europeans to represent America. (Distributed by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

over fixing the boundaries, and it is this question upon which the current conflict hinges. Neither sect can bear the thought of domination by the other, and yet it is virtually impossible for the boundary commission to cleave the nation cleanly because of the intermingled population.

What, then, has India achieved? Only time can answer and if the reply is favorable to the teeming millions of natives, it must be liberally sprinkled with tolerance, a factor which never has been practiced by either side.

Without tolerance, without patience and without goodwill, neither India nor Pakistan can survive as independent States, no matter how the Constitution of either is worded. They have a year in which to determine whether they shall remain as British dominions or go it alone as independent nations.

Much of the world's sympathy has been with India's desire for independence. But the native governments will find that sympathy vanishing to the degree that they continue destroying each other. England has kept its bargain even though it has been a cruel blow to the Empire.

BURSTING

- Don't take a chance with unprotected water pipes when cold weather sets in. Here's the way to avoid the inconvenience of burst pipes during the winter months:
- Wrap exposed water pipes with newspapers, rags, or burlap.
- Turn off and drain outside fixtures.
- Repair broken windows and stuff cracks around windows and doors.

Take these few precautions NOW and save possible costly repairs in the future.

FACE TAX CHARGES
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—(INS)—Gustave H. and William L. Kann, officials of the Crushed Steel Co. of Pittsburgh, will be tried in federal court during the November term on charges of evading personal and corporate income tax totaling $375,000. The brothers pleaded not guilty before Judge R. M. Gibson and were listed for trial next month. Gustave Kann, president of the firm, was accused of evading $110,335 in individual income tax and William Kann a vice president, $87,554 in personal tax. Both faced charges of evading payment of $117,000 in excess taxes on the company's income.

"NOR GLOOM OF NIGHT", APPLIES THIS WEATHER

The slogan of the postal workers reminds you that among other things,—"nor gloom of night shall keep these messengers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds".

This is weather when to the gloom of night is added all too often, fog, dense white blankets of fog that call out the finest in driving.

But the trucks go through. Without any fanfare of bugles or ruffle of drums the truck driver gets his cargo through, no matter the weather. Bright or stormy, hot or freezing, fog or moonlight, the truck driver makes his appointed rounds speedily, safely, efficiently.

Each evening's assembly will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

CIGARETTE CAUSES DEATH BY BURNS

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25—(INS)—Robert A. Pannier, 32, was dead today, victim of a fire caused by a cigarette.

Pannier, partner in a Pittsburgh Stamp Company, died in a hospital last night of burns suffered when the overinflated chair in which he was sitting caught fire.

Police said he apparently dozed off while smoking a cigarette in the chair. He was burned about the head and body, and died four hours later.

Mr. Fennell, a forceful speaker, was elected president of the National Committee, at the national convention held in June. He will speak on the subject, "God Save America," and will call attention to some of the serious problems confronting the nation.

Police Officer Arrests Man Molesting Him

While Walter Bartoshek, city policeman, was dining in the Streamline early this morning, Eddie Duda, Ralph avenue, annoyed him and offered to fight him. Bartoshek put him out of the restaurant, whereupon Duda took a punch at the policeman, who landed first, driving Duda through the plate glass window. He arrested Duda. In falling through the window Duda cut his hand which required treatment at the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Today in police court Mayor John F. Haven reminded Duda that daily. He ordered Duda to pay for a policeman is on duty 24 hours the damage to the window.

W. SHARP FULLERTON

W. Sharp Fullerton, State Grange master, master farmer and former state legislator and school teacher, is one of Lawrence county's most illustrious sons.

He was born at the Oak Grove farm, the family homestead, in North Beaver township, spending his boyhood there and occupying the farm at the present time with his wife (the former Osie Ellen Patterson) and his daughter, Alice. Two children are married, Errol, the only son, who is now assistant district attorney, and Mrs. Ellen Service, a resident of Sharon. He is the son of William A. and Margaret Dalzell Fullerton.

Dairy Farming Specialty
Concerning the 225-acre farm, Mr. Fullerton specializes in dairy herds, owning registered Jersey cows, but also does general farming and has sheep and hogs. The fields have been drained by 4,150 feet of tile and a rotation system established to include in legumes 35 of the 68 cultivated acres.

Although the barn is over a century old, it has been equipped with silos for both corn and grass silage and such modern machines as automatic milkers, milk coolers and stanchions have been added. Mechanical field equipment is also found in abundance to speed the work on the farm.

Attended Township Schools
Mr. Fullerton attended common and high school in North Beaver township and was graduated from Slippery Rock State Teachers college. He returned to his locality to teach school for six years and has also served as school director. He has long been associated with Grange work, being a charter member of the Westfield Grange, 12 years master of Pomona and six years assistant steward of the State Grange. At present he is in his second term as State Grange master.

Three Times Legislator
Mr. Fullerton has served in the state House of Representatives three times, 1938 and 1942, and being re-elected in 1944.

John F. Bracken Dies In Florida
Requiem Mass In Pittsburgh On Wednesday For Father Of Mrs. George Metz, This City

Mrs. George A. Metz of 1404 East Washington street received word on Friday of the death of her father, John F. Bracken, aged 84 years, of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Mr. Bracken resided in New Castle for a number of years prior to moving to Florida. Survivors in addition to Mrs. Metz are four daughters, three sons, eight grandchildren and a great grandchild.

The body will be brought to the Colligan funeral home, Warrington avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa. Funeral services will be conducted on Wednesday morning, with a high requiem mass to be offered in St. Canice's church, Knoxville. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery, Carrick.

Explosion Causes
Auto To Be Wrecked
GLASSPORT, Pa., Oct. 25.—(INS)—The explosion of a gas hot water heater in a Glassport home today was blamed for injuries to four McKeesport youths when their automobile crashed into a pole.

The blast occurred at the home of Charles Savarem, but no injuries were suffered by Savarem, his wife, or their two sons.

Those injured in the auto accident were Chester Galco, 23, the driver; Jack Grace, 21; Elmer Dobransky, 23; and Hugh Coughlin, 22. All but Coughlin were released after treatment at McKeesport hospital.

Coughlin told police Galco's attention was diverted by the blast, and he lost control of the car, which was badly damaged.

Windows were shattered, plaster was cracked and furniture smashed in the Savarem home, but no damage occurred in the bedrooms where the family was sleeping.

What the New National Guard means to you...

A Message from the President of the United States

WE OWE our existence as a nation to the tradition of service of our citizens. It was an army of citizen soldiers which George Washington led to victory in the American Revolution. At the end of that war, the first Congress asked General Washington to give his views on what the military policy of the new nation should be. This was his answer:

"...every citizen who enjoys the protection of a free government, owes not only a proportion of his property but even of his personal services to the defense of it."

Today the new National Guard gives every man an opportunity to give that personal service to his country and at the same time to advance himself. In National Guard units all over the country thousands of veterans and other ambitious young men are finding the opportunity to study and learn the things that help them advance in their civilian jobs. They are finding the fellowship that is part and parcel of America. They are participating in a sports and recreation program that keeps them fit. And they are receiving the training that helps keep America strong.

Because of the National Guard's importance to our national defense I have proclaimed September 16th as National Guard Day and have directed that a nationwide recruiting campaign be conducted to fill its ranks.

NEW CASTLE AIRPORT LAUDED IN REPORT

In a report just issued by the Aircraft Owners and Pilots' Association at Washington, D. C., New Castle Airport was given an above average rating in a check of 1577 airports of the nation just made by the association.

Demands made by some 40,000 members of the group has resulted in a sharp gain made in airports measuring up to the civilian pilot's code of safety-service-courtesy, it is shown in the report. America now has 627 above average airports, compared to 443 earlier this year.

MISSING FROM HOME

Wife of Steve Naples, rear 5 Home street, reported to police last night her husband was missing from home since 11:30 a.m. He was described as follows: age, 28; build, short and husky; blue work shirt, blue jacket, blue striped trousers and railroad cap. He has a scar above his left eye.

In ancient times the evil eye was a widespread belief which attributed to certain individuals the power to cause death or injury to other persons simply by looking at them.

NATIONAL APPLE WEEK
HARRISBURG, Oct. 25.—(INS)—The commonwealth was asked by Gov. James H. Duff to join in the week-long observance of National Apple Week beginning today.

"As the fourth greatest apple producing state in the nation, Pennsylvania is known far and wide for the high quality and distinctive flavor of this 'king of fruits,'" Duff declared.

The governor pointed out that nearly seven million bushels will be harvested from commercial orchards.

There is more to a trailer than just a body on wheels, much more. Into the building of them must go experience and craftsmanship, knowledge of stresses and strains, of highway construction. We handle two makes of trailers, American Bantam Supercargo and Kingham. We know both of them are right for that hauling job you have in mind. They are built with the needs of the truck operator in mind.

Gen. Eisenhower
Calls For Strong
Policy For U. S.

MANHATTAN, Kans., Oct. 25.—(INS)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower called today for the "spiritual fibre" of early pioneer settlers to meet the challenge of a world "heavy with storm clouds that threaten new suffering to civilization."

The famed wartime hero made his plea in an address before a Kansas State College homecoming day crowd in Manhattan.

Gen. Eisenhower declared that the way to durable peace is blocked "by the ruins of shattered economies, appalling human misery and by ideological strife."

He warned that the United States cannot be isolated from a world faced by "ominous problems" and called for a strong military and economic program and aid to distressed peoples.

Gen. Eisenhower said that this country must "have the strength to convince the world that no outside force shall ever conquer this great stronghold of democracy." He said that such action must be "America's continuing purpose."

Four Firemen Are Injured In Blaze

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—(INS)—Four firemen were injured today when flames swept through a dry good store in suburban Natrona and caused damage estimated at $60,000.

The blaze leveled the two-story frame building occupied by the Max Kubrin Co. Other buildings damaged included St. John's German Lutheran church, grocery store, and a bank.

Three families living in apartments on the second floor were forced to flee.

MAN INJURES FOOT
Edward Phillips, aged 26 years, of 617 West State street, was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital late Friday morning for injuries of the foot sustained at his work at the United Engineering and Foundry Co. Mr. Phillips had a fracture of several of the small bones.

One Detroit Youth
Hurt In Accident;
Out Of Hospital

Ralph Schnupp, Detroit youth, has been discharged from the Jameson Memorial hospital and is being cared for by his mother at 1008 Dewey avenue, where he was injured in a car accident on Sunday.

The boys allegedly stole a car at Lansing, Mich., after they had fled from the Boys Vocational school.

They abandoned this car at Delta, O., but stole another, which they wrecked at Rose Point last Sunday.

Both youths were injured. Schnupp was released Friday from the hospital but Angell is in a critical condition, having been unconscious since the wreck.

State police are holding Schnupp for the theft and the FBI may be interested because both cars were transported across state lines.

Society Clubs

Naughty '46 Club
An enjoyable evening was spent by members of the Naughty '46 club on Friday, when they gathered at the home of Miss Emily DePiero, 209 East Cherry street.

Sewing and chat were the main pastimes of the evening. Special guest was Miss Palma Julian.

At a later hour, the hostess served a dainty lunch on a nicely arranged table, enjoyed by candlelight. She was aided by her mother, Mrs. Sam DePiero.

On November 12 the club will meet with Mrs. Louis Kwolek at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Anthony Ostrowsky, R. D. 8.

Masquerade For School Chums
A group of school friends were entertained at a masquerade Thursday evening by Miss Margie Cover, in her home on Highland avenue.

Games and contests were the diversion with prizes going to the Misses Barbara Vago, Sondra Fowler, Gary Rape, and Thomas Winter.

Later halloween refreshments were served by the hostess' mother, Mrs. Walter Cover and the Misses Maxine and Vivian Kray and Josephine Jenkins.

Emanon Club To Meet
Next meeting of the Emanon club will be November 5 in the home of Mrs. H. L. McCartney, 115 West Garfield avenue.

Tables of bridge were in play at the club's recent bi-weekly meeting in the home of Mrs. Jesse Joseph, 106 West Garfield avenue. Prizes went to Mrs. Waldron Curley, Mrs. Robert McQuiston and Mrs. David Harlan. The latter assisted the hostess in serving a lunch.

COSTLY SLEEP
Peter Melnick, Croton avenue, was found "down and out" from liquor last night at North and North Beaver street. After being discharged by Mayor John F. Haven in police court today he reported the loss of $90 from his person.

'First Night' For Westminster Play

Preview Of 'The Three Kisses' To Be Staged At College Theatre This Evening

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 25.—Westminster College's Little Theatre will have all the aspects of a Broadway "first night" Saturday evening when a student cast will present a preview of Margaretta Scott Lawler's "The Three Kisses".

Guests for the preview will include drama critics, representatives of neighboring college and high school little theatre groups and others who are interested in the theatre professionally and friends of the college family.

Leading parts in the play are portrayed by Bruce Catt, Butler, Emmet D'Arbrosio, Ellwood City; Maryann Rehm, Pittsburgh; Helen Sloss, Sharon, and Janet Keilar, Manchester, Conn.

The first public performance of the play will be given Monday evening. The play will run nightly through Saturday, Nov. 1.

Miss Lawler has been invited to see the play and is expected on campus sometime next week.

EDENBURG

RECEPTION

To welcome Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Johnston, the members of the Edenburg Methodist church gathered in the church, Thursday evening, for a reception. A program of songs, music and readings were enjoyed followed by a lunch served by the ladies of the church. Rev. Johnston was given a gift of money and Mrs. Johnston presented with a corsage. After a social time, the greetings were extended to Rev. and Mrs. Johnston for a successful stay in Edenburg.

Coon Hunting Sport Holds Little Appeal To County Resident

I want it understood that I am not an enemy of the sportsman.

In my own humble way I too have felt the call of the wild, have hunted through the fields and fished the streams. All this is a very manly pastime and great fun.

It is the sportsman called the "coon hunter" with whom I have a bone to pick. I am not narrow-minded enough to stoutly disclaim that this sport is lacking in lure. Truthfully, though, the pursuit of these small animals through the dead of night is a bit mystifying. Especially the nocturnal angle of the sport. That's the part of the whole issue that nettles, for I am one of those human beings who firmly believes that the hours after midnight are to be bathed in calmness and quiet with perhaps the twittering of a night bird—but no more.

Start In Late Hour
However these mysterious gentlemen of the dark hours have little regard for the man awaiting the appearance of the Sand Man. They descend upon the peaceful rural areas usually at the witching hour, in high-powered cars with a string of snarling dogs and much shouted conversation.

Such a boisterous appearance on the scene would rouse a man drowsy with drugs. Flashing their lights, shouting to each other and their dogs they start crashing off through the underbrush close to our home while the little woman and I exchange looks of stunned futility and shrug our shoulders. It has come again.

Baying Begins
In a short time comes one episode of the hectic night that chills one's bones to the marrow and makes sleep a fleeting thing. It is the baying of the hounds on the scent.

Now this pack of canines which romps near our house makes the Hound of Baskervilles sound like a sleepy eyed pup a few days from his mother. Once they hit the trail it is a mounting crescendo of whelps, barks and drawn-out howls.

We get to thinking of the wolves which pursued the Russians across the Steppes, the coyotes of the west and other delightful subjects.

This feverish pursuit of the raccoon goes on for a long time, sometimes dying into the distance and at other times surging back into the immediate vicinity with a shattering roar.

We wait breathlessly for the report of the guns for this means that the "coon" has been treed and shot, and the midnight nightmare is entering the final chapter.

The hunters usually return to their cars and then begins the lengthy "calling of the hounds," a practice that becomes as nerve-racking as the yipping of the dogs. Only when the last wayward roamer has shown up and we hear the whirr of their engine do we try to salvage the final shreds of sleep from the night.

Usually this is not the end of the trouble for by this time our dog (a very mild-natured little terrier) is in an uproar herself and takes stern shouts to silence.

As I said, I am a great admirer of the hunter, his prowess and the breeding of his dogs. (Many of these hounds costs hundreds of dollars I understand—probably gauged by the pitch of their mournful howls).

I ask only one thing. There are countless acres of woodland and field in this country, far removed from the haunts of man. There must also be raccoons tripping over each other in these tracts.

Please, some night try another corner of the country. Insomnia is one affliction I have no desire of cultivating.

MAY CUTS HEAD
William Paradise, aged 23 years, of 814 Highland avenue, was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital late Friday evening for a laceration of the scalp, received when a jack handle, which he was using, flew up in the air and struck him on top of the head.

Toonerville Folks:—

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 25.—Director S. Sylvan Simon, a strict teetotaler who considers sarsaparilla hard-drinking' likker, today described Adele Jergens as the kind of cutie movie bosses have been crying in their beer about for years.

All morning Brother Simon had been working with Adele Jergens, which is very nice work, if you can get it in any league.

He confronted a roving reporter on the Columbia studio back lot and promptly began beating his gums in enthusiastic praise: "She is the kind of a gal we've been weeping in our grog about for decades. We've been sobbing because there weren't any more girls like that."

Not Hard Assignment
"And along come Adele. There she is, alive! I'll bet she can do anything. And so we've been moping over our brew for nothing."

Simon was almost glaring. "Why don't you go out there and talk to her?" he demanded. "Go ask her anything. Ask her—"

So the reporter went with the director to the set of "The Fuller Brush Man."

Miss Jergens was on the sound stage, all right, a fine figure of a woman all covered with goose-pimples because of her scant costume.

Not Enough Sleep
Simon introduced the former New York showgal to the reporter. "I've just seen myself in the

"rushes," she exclaimed. "How do you do?"

The reporter said: "Mr. Simon thinks you're the kind of woman about whom men have been crying in their beer for a long time."

"Oh Does he?"

"Do you do anything—that is, do you do everything? He said you do."

Miss Jergens did not reply. One question had been satisfactorily answered.

"What do you do in this picture?"

The actress dimpled: "I make love to Red Skelton."

"Do you enjoy it?"

"Yes," said Miss Jergens. "I like everything about Hollywood except getting up early in the morning. People here don't get enough sleep."

High School Band

Presents Program

At Friday's Game

Special Features Staged At Taggart Stadium Between Halves And Before Game

New Castle's high school football team was "swinging it" Friday night at Taggart stadium and so was the band. Joe F. Replogle, band director, put his band through some strenuous practice during the week and it showed on Friday night.

The band marched onto the field before game time and played the "Star-Spangled Banner" while the flag went up. A huge NC was formed and the band played the school song following which a double E was formed and the Erie song was played.

At half time the band marched onto the field playing the Pennsylvania State Song. A keystone was formed and the Pennsylvania Polka was played with the majorettes dancing the polka. A liberty bell was formed and John Philip Sousa's stirring Liberty Bell march was heard. During this number Harriet Birks did a double baton twirling act that drew her a big hand.

The last formation was a musical lyre with the band playing Foster's "Old Folks at Home" and "O Susanna" with the majorettes doing a strutting routine on their batons. The band left the field playing the state song.

CASPER TAKES A BOW, BUT MODESTLY, OF COURSE

Casper may not like our telling this, for he is a modest chap. A day or so ago a traveler checked out after a two day visit in the Castleton. As he left, he said to Casper, the Castleton isn't the largest hotel in the country, but I haven't found a better one. As for the Coral Lounge, it's the nicest thing of its kind between New York and Chicago. Kind words of course. What we are endeavoring to do is be worthy of such comment every day in the year.

Do You Like To CRUMPLE FENDERS?

If you do, this is an easy stunt: just turn right from the left lane. You'll probably hear swearing and the screech of brakes. Try it at high speed on the highway and you'll be the death-of-the-party.

But if you want to be a safe driver, turn from the correct lane and signal first. That's the courteous thing to do. We like to discuss automobile insurance with courteous drivers because they are the careful drivers. May we talk to you?

In order to more efficiently comply with the act of the recent General Assembly, which broadens the tax levying rights of the various political sub-divisions of the commonwealth, and in order to avoid duplicate grants of monies on contracts let by the county, and to establish a program of on the site tax assessments, I consider it paramount that we bring in a professional tax expert to go over the complete tax structure of the county so that taxes may be more equitably distributed, both on the individual, and industrial establishments of the county. When you consider that it costs over $40,000 to run our tax assessment structure per year, it would be money well spent to follow the above said program.

Rip's "Bloop" Ball May Be Thing Of Past

By JIMMY JORDAN

(International News Service Sports Writer)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—That tantalizing, skyscraper pitch of Rip Sewell's, the "bloop" ball that has had a lot of batters breaking their backs in recent years, may be fading from the National league scene.

The Pittsburgh Pirate front office today confirmed reports the 39-year-old, colorful Florida strawberry farmer will be a coach next year and, barring the unexpected, will not take to the mound again.

He's been around a long time—

17 years in organized ball, ten of them with the Pirates. And 10 years is just about rocking chair and slippers time for any ball player.

"Rip says he may try out his arm in spring training, and if it feels all right we'll leave him on the active list," says General Manager Roy Hamey of the Bucs. "I doubt he'll care to pitch again, though."

His loss will mean the loss of a lot of color in the National league, what with that bloop—er—"ephus" as Rip tagged it—missing.

The Ripper introduced the thing in 1943. He had a lot of fun with it, tantalizing exasperated batters in game after game, laughing at the cries of harried managers that it was illegal, and giving the fans cause for merriment every time he tossed the funny-acting skyscraper 25 feet into the air with a motion not unlike a girl throwing a beanbag.

Started In 1942
Rip started working on the pitch in 1942 during batting practice. He saw his own mates swinging wildly at it. As he once told this writer: "I got the idea if the Pirates couldn't hit it, then some of the rest of them couldn't either. So I worked on control with it. That was the hardest thing about it."

"I used it first against Dom Dilessandro of the Cubs in 1943. The count was 3 and 2. It dropped in and George Magerkurth called it a strike. You should have heard the roller."

But there was nothing they could do about it. It was legally delivered—and the rules don't say anything about how high you can throw 'em.

Hitters Get Wise
But in the past couple of years a lot of hitters have been getting wise to it. Stan Musial of the Cardinals blasted a few doubles off the pitch and Rip stopped throwing it to him. But the big laugh—and Rip joined in the laughing, too—came in the 1946 all-star game when Ted Williams of the Red Sox pulled a three-run homer when the "ephus" was served to him.

The bloop wasn't Rip's only claim to fame as a pitcher, however. He holds the National league record for most chances accepted by a pitcher in one game, 12; most assists, 11; tied major league of most assists in an inning, three, and was pitcher on the major league all-star team in 1943 and in 1944 he won 21 games. He pitched in three all-star games.

The sorrel-top and his freak pitch will be missed from the mound, but he'll probably be around the majors for a long time to come.

Bucky Harris remains the manager of the New York Yankees through next season regardless of what may happen in the world series starting next Tuesday with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

"WILD GOOSE CHASE"
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—(INS)—The "wild goose chase" that beckoned two Philadelphia policemen turned out to be the real McCoy.

Officers Arthur Lodenthal and Joseph Hughes spent some time chasing a wild Canadian goose around Joseph Conito's backyard.

The Philadelphia zoo's bird expert said the goose apparently became exhausted while bucking head winds on its way south.

WOUNDS WOMAN, KILLS SELF
WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 23.—(INS)—Wheeling police today sought a motive for the attempted murder of Mrs. Stella Rother.

Murder of 44, mother of five, who was seriously wounded yesterday by William Burke, 62, who turned the gun on himself and committed suicide.

STOCK MARKET

IS IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(INS)—The Wall Street stock list was dotted with widely-scattered strong spots in the two hour session today but price changes generally were narrow and trading routine. Total turnover was slightly more than 300,000 shares.

Pivotal industrials were firm after yesterday's break. Chrysler and U. S. Steel picked up small fractions.

In the rail group Great Northern preferred climbed about a half. Dealings in oils, utilities, amusements and coppers were uninteresting. Aviation was marred by a decline in United Air Lines.

National Supply jumped more than two points.

Cotton futures started nearly $2 a bale higher but lost about half the gain on profit taking. Bonds and curb shares were featureless.

Chest Chairman Explains Slogan

Agencies Benefit All The People, Mr. Winter States Answering Inquiries

George F. Winter Jr., campaign director, stated today that many of the volunteer workers are frequently asked, "What do you mean by the slogan 'Everybody benefits Everybody gives?'" Our volunteer workers, Mr. Winter said, definitely know that the slogan is not an idle phrase.

Red feather services are community services for the benefit of all the people. Records show that from a survey of the 12 red feather agencies in this area that nearly half the families in the area are receiving some direct service through health and welfare work supported by the Community Chest.

The other half benefits indirectly through better community conditions. Typical of these services are Y.M.C.A.'s, Y.W.C.A.'s, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, City Rescue Mission, Jamieson hospital, New Castle hospital, Margaret Henry Home and the Catholic Welfare conference.

Mr. Winter further stated that many people look upon Community Chest agencies as charitable organizations whereas in reality they are services to the community, and everybody in the area benefits when citizens of all classes, all creeds and all races work together for everybody's health, welfare and happiness.

Parking Problem Affects Business

STATE COLLEGE, Oct. 25.—A decline in real estate values and the migration of business districts to outlying areas represent the price Pennsylvania municipalities are paying for their failure to provide adequate parking facilities closer to business districts, according to a survey conducted by the Institute of Local Government at the Pennsylvania State College.

The survey showed that the decline in real estate values causes not only the property owner to suffer, but also the city or borough as a result of the reduction in the tax base or assessed value of the property. Movement of business from the downtown areas also may result in encroachments into residential sections and the decline of property values there.

Business In New Areas

The trend for business to locate in new areas first was observed when super-markets and other establishments were constructed on side streets and in suburbs, often along main traffic arteries. They found it profitable to locate there because their business involved the handling of bulky packages and the customer wanted to be able to park his car near the market.

Parking space along curbs in most areas is far from adequate and while meters increase the availability of curb space by increasing the turnover rate, they do not add a single parking space.

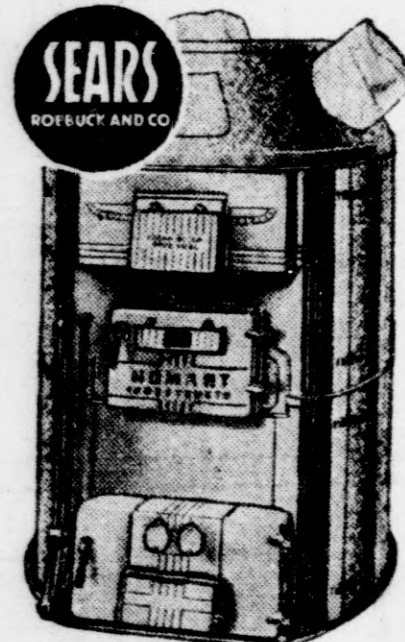

Off-street parking, in garages, on roofs, underground, or in parking lots, either privately or municipally-owned, is advanced by the Institute as one solution to the problem, but a solution that requires the efforts of all concerned.

Maricopa county, of which Phoenix, Ariz., is the hub, is as large as the entire state of Vermont.

SERVE DUTCH DISHES

Early Dutch homemakers used a great deal of ingenuity in adopting their traditional recipes to the simple foods they could produce on their farms. The old custom of serving seven sweets and seven sour offered variety and flavor contrast. It also offered an opportunity for homemakers to show their skill in pickling and preserving.

Some of the most famous Pennsylvania Dutch recipes are the ones for various kinds of pies. Shoo-fly, molasses crumb pie, Dutch cheese cake, green tomato pie, molasses coconut pie, lemon sponge pie, apple tart, and a host of others form an impressive list of recipes, prized today for their excellence.

Two recipes that are typical of the Pennsylvania Dutch style of cookery, yet simple and easily adapted to our present-day living are kraut and chops and pepper cabbage.

Kraut And Chops

Brown 3 large pork chops in their own fat in a hot skillet. Cover with 1 quart of sauerkraut; add 1/4 cup of water, cover with a tight fitting lid, and steam until the chops are well done. The kraut should absorb the pork drippings and be brown in color. Serve hot with well seasoned hot mashed potatoes.

Pepper Cabbage

3 cups finely shredded cabbage
1 small green pepper, cut fine
1 small red pepper, cut fine
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1/3 cup vinegar (more if desired)
Dissolve the sugar and salt in the vinegar and pour over the cabbage and peppers. Taste for seasoning and add more if desired.

Police Officers Given Surprise

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—(INS)—Four burly policemen blushed over the "important arrests" they didn't make.

At least a half dozen calls to police headquarters reported that thieves were breaking into a north-side market.

Squad cars raced to the scene. Officers stationed themselves strategically around the building. They heard noises above. They checked their guns. Then one officer shouted: "Come down or we'll shoot." Down came two small boys. They had climbed to the roof to recover a baseball.

The four policemen looked sheepish and returned to their posts. The "man hunt" was over.

LABELLED SOUND

HARRISBURG, Oct. 25.—(INS)—Pennsylvania Fire Insurance Underwriters were labeled "perfectly sound" today by Deputy General Ralph Umstead of the state insurance department.

He said some misunderstanding about policies may have stemmed from orders directing insurers to file new rates by December 1 in line with new acts of congress.

Umstead pointed out that the department made periodic checks of the reserves maintained by insurance firms. Reserves must be kept at certain levels with cash or negotiable securities, he added.

State Poultrymen Pledge Support

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 25.—(INS)—Pennsylvania poultrymen today were pledged to support the government's grain conservation program.

The newly-formed Pennsylvania State Poultry Federation voted unanimously to lend aid to the regional plan for saving grain at the closing sessions of a four-day conference at Pennsylvania State College.

E. W. Callenbach, chief of the department of poultry husbandry at Penn State, outlined a plan presented by the Northeast Poultry Producers Council by which producers could save grain as well as pledge a 25 per cent reduction in broilers to be hatched before January 1.

In mythology, Dipsas was a serpent, so named because those bitten by it suffered from intolerable thirst.

Mercer Chest Drive Will Open Tuesday

MERCER, Oct. 25.—Announcement is made that Mercer's annual chest drive will open Tuesday, with a goal set of $10,728.91. The first five days of the campaign will be devoted to canvass of business places, while the remainder of the time will be spent canvassing individual homes. Judge George H. Rowley will be the dinner speaker for the opening of the drive, which will be participated in by a number of worthy Mercer agencies.
